

Addressing Violence Against Aboriginal Women in Ontario Using An Indigenous Perspective

About this course

VAW service agencies and organizations can provide Indigenous women with the support they need to leave violent situations. To provide more inclusive service, it is important to identify and address barriers that are unique to Indigenous Women. The course includes scenarios, quizzes, images and videos to support your learning and knowledge development. Content expertise for this course was provided by Gloria Harris, Independent Consultant..

You will learn

1. The history of the development of Canada and the intergenerational impacts on Indigenous women
2. The development and impact of legislation on Indigenous women's lives
3. Providing support to Indigenous women using an Indigenous perspective
4. The Truth and Reconciliation Commission

After completion you will be able to

1. Understand the effects of colonization and systems of oppression on Indigenous women's lives
2. Acknowledge the importance of Truth and Reconciliation
3. Acknowledge the need for Indigenous women to have access to supports and services using an Indigenous perspective

How do I register?

To gain access to this course, please register with the Training Hub to set up your free account by visiting training.oaith.ca.

