

Foundations of VAW Practice

About this course

This self-paced course is designed specifically for newer workers in violence against women organizations. To be successful as a Violence Against Women Advocate, having a foundational framework to guide you is critical in ensuring that you become an effective advocate for women and their children.

You will learn

1. Foundational VAW Frameworks
2. How to develop your portfolio
3. Ethical Decision-Making
4. Record-Keeping Practices
5. Self-Reflective Practice
6. Survivor Inclusion Model(s)

After completion you will be able to

1. Apply intersectional feminist principles and concepts to working with women who have experienced violence.
2. Practice professional portfolio development for ongoing learning.
3. Actively participate in self-reflective practice
4. Centre survivor inclusion in your work
5. Make effective ethical decisions

How do I register?

To gain access to this course, please register with the Training Hub to set up your free account by visiting training.oaith.ca.

