November 26th 2015 - November 25th 2016

Section 2:

Femicide is commonly defined as the intentional murder of women because they are women³. Broader definitions can include any killings of women or girls. Historically, OAITH's work focused primarily on the intentional murder of women, by men, where there has been a known relational connection and a criminal charge laid.

In 2016, there were women we learned about through media reports that either did not indicate a relationship, OR, where it was reported a woman did not know the person who killed them, AND unsolved cases of women who've been murdered. We wanted to ensure communities are aware and have an opportunity for them to be remembered. This list is only partial.

1. Jenna Gonzolla, 34 April 18, 2016 Hamilton ON

Jenna was found dead in an apartment in Hamilton. She was a teacher for adult learners at St. Charles Adult and Continuing Education Centre.
